NEW SCHOOL BUILDING PROGRAM IN FULL SWING

The Torrance school building program is moving full steam ahead, with three new elementary schools scheduled to open during the early part of February, and work on several others in various stages of completion.

That was what Assistant Superintendent S. E. Waldrip told members of the Torrance Educational Advisory Committee at its monthly meeting at the Torrance YWCA last week.

Three schools in North Torrance—Magruder, located at 185th and Doty; Hamilton, at 182nd and Casimir; and Yukon, at 179th and Yukon—are scheduled to open simultaneously early next month. The exact date will depend on when workmen are able to complete the three new plants.

WORK NOW is under way on the final unit of building, at North High and the third unit at South High School, he said. Lincoln Elementary School, 166th and Arlington, also is under construction.

Last week the board indicated its plans to call for bids on additions to Edison, Steele, Madrona, Walteria and Torrance Elementary Schools.

Currently on the drawing boards are plans for Madison School, to be located at 176th and Doty, and Towers Elementary School, to be built at the west end of SouthWest Park, as well as additions to several other elementary schools in the district.

The contract for Adams Elementary School, 238th and Arlington, should be let in about two months, Waldrip said.

GREAT IN RELIEF

Johnny Podres is too valuable as a starter to be assigned bullpen chores, but he has, over a five-year career, lost only once in relief. He dropped one in the 16th last summer to the Giants. His bullpen record is 6-1.
